About

Do you have a new hire in need of OP knowledge? Got a colleague who needs to refresh their skillsets in OP? Or has one of your employees taken on more responsibility in your office? You'll likely need to develop their knowledge, and eLearning is a great place to start! No matter the time, place, or date, OP's eLearning is always up-to-date and at the ready to help develop, reinforce, or refresh your staff!

From keeping your schedule clear to allowing you to learn more about your user experience with OP, the benefits are many, and the Instructional Design Team is here to help not only guide you through the content they develop, but to help you understand why eLearning is used (and what it can do for your bottom line).
