The eLearning Corner will help you, the OP user, become more familiar with the purpose and benefit of not only eLearning, but also of the practice of Instructional Design and consideration of the Learner Experience. OP's Instructional Design Team is well versed in these areas and wants to provide you with the most current, relevant, and convenient experience possible. With this knowledge and understanding, you can feel not only good but great about investing in your digital learning experience, but you'll feel more secure than ever that OP is there where you need us.

Below you will the content that was sent in the OP Newsletter each month.
